About

Girls to Young Ladies is a community organization dedicated to nurturing the positive development of young girls as they transition into womanhood through spiritual development, academic development, health and fitness, arts and culture, etiquette classes, financial and career planning and community service.

One of our 2009-10 initiatives is to introduce a book club component to the G2YL members. Our goal is to introduce them to diverse reading such as African-American literary classics, appropriate teen fiction, and financial and career planning books.

We need your help! We want each girl to start building their own library of books that they can read and refer to during our book club meetings and use as resources in the years to come. Your benefit is a sound investment in the future via these deserving young ladies. Please review the sponsorship donation levels below to see how you can assist our efforts.
